

60 Years after the Military Coup: A Critical Remembering of Military Rule in Brazil

14 March 2024, 17:30-19:30 h, Room: 1461-516, Nobelparken, Jens Chr. Skous Vej 5, Aarhus University

Conversation with members of the Brazilian-Danish community:

- Maria Luiza Meyer
- Paulo Santos Lopes
- Rildete Alves Rodrigues

Input lecture:

- Rebecca Atencio, Tulane University
(via zoom)

The event will be in English and Portuguese with consecutive translation. There will be a small reception.

The 1964 coup d'état in Brazil initiated a resurgence of military rule across Latin America. Even after redemocratization, militarism continued to exert a strong influence on Brazilian politics, as exemplified by the recent rise of bolsonarismo. This event organized by the Brazilian Studies program at the Department of Global Studies commemorates the sixtieth anniversary of the military coup in Brazil. It provides a stage for a conversation on life stories and how they were impacted by political repression and exile. The event is intended to be a collective reflection on memories and historical analyses.

AARHUS UNIVERSITY

