

Extraction and Escape

CVM presents a double-bill of papers on the arrangement of - and resistance to - power during the Viking Age and Middle Ages

Image: Lewis Chessmen, rook pieces biting their shields as they go into berserkjagangr (early 1100s, North Atlantic)

16th November, 16.30-18.30. Building 1461, room 515.

Nerijus Babinskas (Vilnius University):

“Whether feudal and if ever feudal? Towards a typology of early medieval peripheral European societies: the cases of Sweden and Kievan Rus' in around 1000-1200 AD”.

Trine Borake (Museum Vestsjælland):

“From dirt to domination: Anarchism in West Zealand 550-1350”.

Each paper will last 30 minutes. There will be time for discussion over refreshments afterwards.

Generously supported by the Research Programme in History, the Research Programme in Archaeology & Heritage Studies, and the Centre for Viking and Medieval Studies.

All welcome, no registration required. For more information contact: richardcole@cas.au.dk
